Flexi-Ultra Service Contract

Flexible servicing to match the pace of your business.

The Mack Flexi-Ultra Contract is a usage-based service contract where monthly fees align with your actual mileage. This allows you to adapt your operation to market conditions and demand. It's the same coverage as our Mack Ultra Service Contract, just with flexible payments.

How does it work?

Using your truck's connectivity technology, the Mack Flexi-Ultra Contract remotely tracks your actual driven mileage. The result? Invoices that match the actual demands of your business.

Thanks to the variable nature of this usage-based payment model, monthly fees will vary to reflect your actual driving. In addition, it offers a +/-20% flexibility span for your estimated yearly mileage without the worry for a revision at the end of the year.

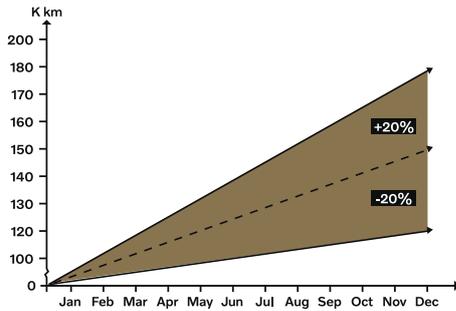

Main Benefits

- It's usage-based, so both maintenance and monthly fee follows your actual mileage
- Improves your cash flow by aligning costs with revenues – even if your business has significant seasonal changes.
- Reduces paperwork
- Allows flexibility, making it easy for you to handle future changes in workload.
- Offers peace of mind by securing your uptime
- Decreases cost of ownership when used in the right application by offering long-term contract solutions .

 Flexi-Ultra is only +/- 10% when annual kms are over 200,000 p/yr.*

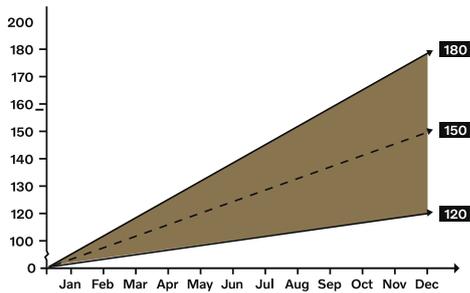

The Mack Flexi-Ultra Contract is a usage-based service contract offering a premium-level of coverage with monthly fees aligned with your actual mileage.

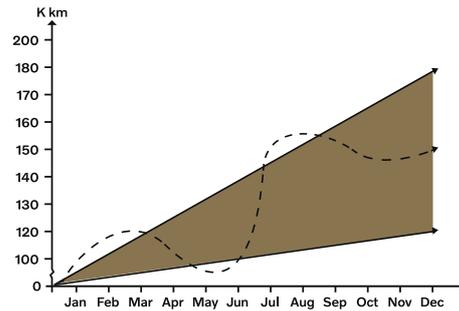

The yearly mileage estimate which determines the contract cost may change within a 40% flexibility span.

The monthly fees vary, thanks to a variable component which follows your actual driven distance (price/km).

If your estimated yearly mileage is 150,000 km, your actual yearly mileage may end up somewhere between 120,000 and 180,000 km.

You may have various ups and downs during the year – your monthly fee will always be in line with your actual driven distance. What counts is that your total yearly mileage stays within your flexibility span.

The longer the contract, the more flexibility you will get in actual mileage. And the better you will be able to handle future changes in workload.

Flexi-Ultra is only +/- 10% when annual kms are over 200,000 p/yr.
